HEALTH & SAFETY PLAN

We look forward to welcoming you to The Armory Show 2021 this September. The health and safety of our exhibitors, visitors, and staff remains our top priority. Our Health & Safety Plan has been developed based on the current recommendations provided by the Center for Disease Control (CDC), New York State, and in collaboration with the Javits Center.

The Javits Center, a state-run venue, is fully equipped to safely host The Armory Show. The facility has received Global Biorisk Advisory Council (GBAC) accreditation and has implemented the industry's highest standards for cleaning and disinfection, including the installation of High Efficiency Particulate Air (HEPA) filters to improve filtration and ventilation.

The Armory Show 2021 floor plan, which has been meticulously designed by renowned architects Frederick Fisher and Partners, is open and spacious, providing ample opportunity for social distancing.

In addition, the 2021 edition of The Armory Show will have a limited capacity with timed entry and coordinated crowd flow.

The Armory Show requires that all individuals wear a mask indoors, regardless of vaccination status.

Please note that the regulations and recommended protocols continue to evolve, and The Armory Show reserves the right to revise these measures and requirements as needed, in order to comply with federal and state regulations, as well as to ensure the utmost safety of all visitors and staff onsite. Additional details relating to safety protocols and entry requirements will be provided to all ticket holders via email in the weeks immediately prior to the fair.
